THE PRESENT [illegible] MARKET AND [illegible] AT STATE [illegible]

[illegible] New York [illegible]

The present spot financial [illegible] That [illegible] money would [illegible] in a very little [illegible] even to those who are most [illegible] the [illegible] Money [illegible] that [illegible] It [illegible] the country [illegible] was a few weeks [illegible] withdrawal of $[illegible] and the [illegible] in the stock market [illegible] lenders to [illegible] their [illegible]. They have also advanced the rate of the legal [illegible] even beyond the legal rate of interest [illegible] that to Wall street. Seven per cent is the rate beyond which no lawful demand may be made but there is nothing to prevent its payment in gold or the exaction of a commission equivalent to a bonus for the use of money. Hence in the present stringency borrowers have been compelled to pay as high as ten or twelve per cent interest. The cause of this sudden crisis in Wall street may be briefly told and will be found an interesting narative.

Just about the middle of September in each year money always becomes active. It was a little late this season owing to the backwardness of the cotton crops in the South and to the retention of the Western crops by the farmers who were seeking high[illegible] prices. Money was abundant in the [illegible] as a consequence and was loaning [illegible] at four five and six per cent on what are known as call loans. These are loans made upon collateral such as stocks and bonds and liable to be called in at the option of the lender. The ease in money induced utmost speculation in the stock market and every thing in the shape of stocks was bought with avidity. Prices ran up so rapidly that an advance of twenty per cent took place in some of the railway stocks, particularly the Western ones, within a few weeks. The situation afforded the fine opportunity for a grand bear operation, by which stocks could be sold at a price below their market value, and then by pressure, forced below the contract figure. Such at least was the view taken of it by a prominent bear firm who induced others to join them and a large "pool" was thus formed for the purpose of breaking down the stock market. Stocks go up when money is plenty. Conversely they go down when money is tight. Hence the "pool" determined upon making money tight as the first step to their speculation. Accordingly they borrowed money by depositing collateral at the banks. The sum thus obtained they deposited in other banks, drew their checks against it and had them certified. The certified checks they cashed at still other banks and finally they locked the last amounts in their safes. Any one familiar with business at the banks will see that with a million of collateral the speculators could easily tie up or "lock up," to use the vernacular of Wall street the sum of three four or five or as many millions more as they could find banks willing to lend themselves to the scheme. The sum of $3 000 000 or $4 000 000 was thus locked up and the speculators counted on the usual activity of money to help them. But money did not become scarce, for the reasons previously cited, and the remaining volume of currency expanded so as to meet the requirements of business for a few days. The attempt was a fiasco and after a short time they took their greenbacks out of the safe and put them in bank again. A second attempt was made a few weeks afterward but it was hardly more successful. The stock market, in each instance vibrated a little but the scheme being seen through prices remained firm, and the speculators retired vanquished.

The third and the most successful attempt was inaugurated last Monday and Tuesday when the sum of $9,000 000 was suddenly withdrawn from circulation by the same "pool" and by the same locking up process. The game now began to be a desperate one on their part. The stock market refused to respond as they wished to the tightness in money and the screw was applied by the withdrawal on Thursday of three millions more of greenbacks. Still the market was obstinate. The Western railway shares broke under the pressure it is true because they were the most largely inflated by the previous mania for speculation. The objective point was Erie however and that stock continued firm. A further withdrawal of money was managed and Erie after fighting hard all day Friday fell from 47 to 44 amid great excitement. The rest is soon told. The withdrawal of more greenbacks until the sum of $1[illegible] 000 000 was taken from circulation completed the rout of the stock market and the whole list wavered and broke. Erie fell, rose again half way and then collapsed to about 38. The victors are not content as yet. They are still pursuing the vanquished Erie with the threat that they will drive it down to 3[illegible]. Meantime the greenbacks are locked up. When it is remembered that the total currency in New York city is only from $70 000 000 to $80 000 000, it is easy to find a cause for the pinch in money when $16 000,000 are taken out of circulation. The worst feature of the situation is that the artificial stringency is likely to be aggravated by a natural one owing to a demand for money in legitimate business [illegible] such as the movement of the crops and the like which were suspended until this time. Several of the banks are implicated in this grand scheme of the [illegible] and when the [illegible] they [illegible] accordingly.

Such is the condition of affairs at this moment. Where it will end or what it will result in are speculations for those who are versed in financial philosophy. If it succeeds in curbing the speculative mania now largely possessing moneyed men and brings capital back into legitimate channels, if it cures the great ambition of the day to make fortunes in a few hours at the Stock Exchange and if it imparts a new stimulus to honest business transactions it will not have been without its good, despite the millions of dollars that have been gambled away in Wall street within the present brief calendar month.

LITTLE MAC WILL NOT KEEP SCHOOL. The telegraph the other day said that Little Mac had settled permanently at Hoboken and this news is confirmed by the following from the Nevada Transcript:

A party who is intimately acquainted with General George B McClellan writing to a friend at North San Juan says that Little Mac has been appointed civil engineer of the Stephens Battery recently bequeathed to the State of New Jersey and will have the handling of the $1 000 000 left by Stephens to complete it. So he has a better position than keeping school for the Democrats of California. He has taken up his permanent residence at Hoboken. This is a fortunate thing for the State University.

The following notice appears in a Lawrence (Kansas) paper: "To Whom it may Concern. I hereby give notice that the sale of spirituous liquors to Homer Hays is contrary to my wishes and that I shall prosecute, according to law any person who disregards this notice. CATHERINE HAYS"

MISSIONARY ENTERPRISE. There are now in active operation eighty-six Protestant Missionary Associations scattered through all the evangelizing portion of the globe. The united receipts of these associations during the last year exceeded $12 000 000. One ordained missionary is laboring in China to duty to about every 4 000 000 of inhabitants.

Swinging the Circle

[illegible] Tribune Nov 8

Andrew Johnson's [illegible] policy of swinging around the circle was followed by Mr Seymour and with even worse results than those that attended the [illegible] traveler. The first point Mr Seymour struck was [illegible] that Democratic city [illegible] for Grant [illegible] but the Republicans had [illegible] year ago there [illegible] party [illegible] Chicago [illegible] April [illegible] indebted to the [illegible] prosperity and how greatly [illegible] not having [illegible] for Grant and Peace and [illegible] majority against the [illegible] of [illegible] the depreciation of the currency or the [illegible] National Banks.

The gentleman [illegible] had become so enamored of the West that he could not refrain from visiting it and proclaiming his admiration [illegible] went hence to Indiana [illegible] Grant's majority is six or eight times greater than that given to Baker in October. His visit to Cincinnati and Columbus and his speeches along the route, aroused the people and Ohio which in October voted only 18 000 majority, now gives Grant 40,000. The speech of Mr Seymour in Pittsburgh was particularly moving. He pointed out with a force that was overwhelming that each one of the twenty thousand mechanics of that county had to work two additional hours each day to pay his share of the taxes called for by the terrible expenses of the rebellion of 1861 by the Democratic party. On this point he was extremely lucid. He left no room for doubt that if Hampton, Preston, Forrest and some sixty other delegates to the New York Convention had not in 1861, with Jeff Davis and other leading Democrats taken up arms and made war upon the United States we should not now be compelled to work two hours additional each day to pay off that debt. After hearing such a convincing speech as this the workmen of Allegheny county voted by 11,000 majority against the return of these rebels to the control of the government and against a renewal of the already most expensive war.

Harrisburg, Philadelphia and all other points at which Mr Seymour made speeches have given increased Republican majorities, thereby proving that the repellant effect of Andrew Johnson's oratory in 1866 have even been surpassed by those of Horatio Seymour in 1868.

It is well known that Seymour was driven into this last demagogical expedition by assurances that victory was certain if he would only lower himself. Well may he now repeat his famous exclamation "Where are the victories that you promised?"

With these melancholy experiences of Johnson and Seymour will end in all probability the egotistical assumption that the people are to be diverted from their purposes or their opinions changed by the condescending phrases or [illegible] bullying of any aspirant for office. Andrew Johnson's coarse declarations of what he might do if he would or if the people did not do as he wished were as unavailing as the exhibitions of Seymour's hands—"small, soft and white, like those of a woman." The people had made up their minds and these things only made the declaration of their will the more earnest and the more emphatic.

Spicy Correspondence General Butler on J W Simonton

[From the New York Times]

He then overhauled the representative Republican newspapers that Dana had said opposed his re election. He enumerated the Boston Advertiser, the New York Evening Post, the New York Times, the Nation, the Springfield Republican and the Chicago Tribune, accounting for the opposition of each on personal grounds. The Boston Advertiser had been compelled by him to retract a gross slander of Anna Dickinson; the Evening Post had an editor—half minister and half play actor—named Hudson whom Butler had sent out of his department during the war and also another editor named Henderson who was tried for malfeasance as Navy Agent and escaped conviction only by a flaw in the indictment; the Nation was started in the interest of the freedmen and Butler had protested against a subscription of $15 000 to help establish the paper; the Chicago Tribune had Senators Grimes and Trumbull as parties interested in its profits and so on. As for the New York Times the reason for its opposition was rather funny (as your reporter thought when he came to hear it). With most of the other papers he was more or less responsible for their enmity but in this case he had nothing to do with it. He had understood that a reporter for that paper was present this evening and he hoped would report him fully on this point.

"A leading editor of that paper" said he, "is James W Simonton who once resided in California. I happened to have a nephew living there at the same time—a stout strapping fellow who may have sometimes been a little hasty and headstrong. This Simonton abused Senator Broderick most foully in his newspaper and my nephew thrashed him like a dog. [Laughter.] Since that time Simonton has taken it out by violent writing and abuse [illegible] against me—like the boy who, getting thrashed by his playmate said 'Well if I can't lick you I will make faces at your sister.'" [Renewed laughter and applause.]

J W SIMONTON ON GENERAL BUTLER

GENERAL AGENCY N Y ASSOCIATED PRESS,
Monday, October 26 1868.

To the Editor of the New York Times: Gen B F Butler seeks to break the force of the Times criticisms of his public character by attributing their authorship to the undersigned, and charging me with specific motives for malice. The hero of Fort Fisher in all this "economizes the truth" with a reckless enterprise peculiarly his own.

While I should be proud to merit the abuse of one who is so rapidly finding his true level among original and honest Republicans I cannot by silence accept the unearned compliment which he pays me. Be good enough therefore to say to him [illegible] for me, that years have elapsed since I had any editorial connection with the Times, or that I have either written or inspired anything in its columns which was not published over my own proper initials.

Allow me to add what General Butler knows well already that his story about Senator Broderick and myself is a pure invention. I never saw in California any connection of his other than the brother who was with him in New Orleans during the war. The latter I had the honor to denounce to President Lincoln in Washington in 1861 in terms which though just, I will not repeat here because their subject is no longer living to answer me. What I said of that member of the Butler family was uttered publicly and deliberately in the presence of [illegible] party denounced and of some 70 or 80 other Californians. Neither he or any friend of his ventured to question the accuracy of my statements for there were numerous living witnesses present to verify the literal truth of every word which public duty impelled me to utter. The General's cause must be far weaker than thoughtful men have hitherto dared to hope if he finds it necessary to meet direct charges against himself by coining such pitiful falsehoods against another as I have thus exposed.

Respectfully, J W SIMONTON

GEORGE H BUTLER ON J W SIMONTON

OFFICE SPIRIT OF THE TIMES,
New York Oct [illegible] 1868.

Several years ago Henry Edgerton, one of the ablest and most respected statesmen of California made a famous speech in the California Senate in the course of which he denounced the notorious Jim Simonton, editor of the San Francisco Bulletin, as the greatest liar of the West, adding: "He lies by day and he lies by night and he lies in the very last of living." Even had any one doubted the honorable gentleman's statement [illegible] yesterday's Times would only justify the terrible [illegible] he received from the indignant Californian.

The fact to which he alluded is this. It became my pleasing duty in 18[illegible], as a friend of Senator Edward Baker and the son of A J Butler to chastise the present agent of the Associated Press through the medium of a gutta percha cane which unfortunately broke before I had thoroughly cured the first liar of America (both in his official and private capacity) of his habit of falsifying [illegible] gentlemen. He caused my arrest [illegible] assault and battery and I was instantly released on a nominal [illegible] examination on the following Monday. The [illegible] notoriety of Simonton in Washington raised such a general congratulation at his disgrace that even he failed to appear before the Court, and the charge was dismissed.

The only error General Butler made in his allusions to the matter (except his mistake of noticing such an infamous character) was putting Senator Broderick for Baker. That after a lapse of seven years is not surprising. If it were generally known that this same Simonton is the spy who was detected hid under the benches of the United States Senate during secret session, and ignominiously kicked out of his reportorial privileges this substantiation of General Butler's charges would be unnecessary. In conclusion, Simonton need have no delicacy about [illegible] any charges he may ever have against the late A. J. Butler for the reason that he is not living to answer them. I will take as much pleasure in repelling the attacks of the veracious agent of the Associated Press as when in 1861 I thrashed him in a dead run for a quarter of a mile down Pennsylvania avenue.

May I trouble your mailing clerk to send a marked copy of your paper containing this note to the agent of the Associated Press?

Very truly yours,
GEO H BUTLER.

The Record of Eight Years

Though the Republican party has controlled the Government of the United States but eight years, it has accomplished in that time more for good government and material development, more to sweep away old abuses and establish necessary reforms, more to shed historic lustre on the American name, and to make the flag and power of the nation respected throughout the world, than all the parties which have preceded it since America had a government. In proof of this it points to its record and appeals to the history of its achievements, content to rest on them for its justification.

In this period it has conquered a gigantic rebellion, the result of Democratic teachings, and preserved intact the union of these States. It has abolished slavery, that tremendous evil and curse which continually kept the nation in a broil and which made our boasted liberty and civilization the reproach and mockery of the world. It has made the American people a nation, has overthrown the dogma of State Sovereignty and all the destructive ideas that followed in its train; it has established the Federal Constitution as the supreme law, and the Federal Government as the organ of an enduring nationality. It has secured a recognition by other powers of the rights of American citizens of foreign birth, and has thus effected what the Democratic party failed for half a century to accomplish. While embarrassed with a fearful war, it inaugurated vast works of internal improvement, and undertook to span the continent from the Atlantic to the Pacific with highways, one of which is nearly completed, and others will soon be on the way, to link together a chain of populous States from Maine to Oregon. It has given every man who wanted it a donation of land for a home, and has thus conferred a great benefit on the worthy laboring classes, while at the same time it has prepared the way for the development of a continent. The Republican party is the first of all the political organizations which have controlled the country that has embodied the aspirations of the national heart for a higher national life and a more generous national progress. It points to its achievements, and is willing to rely for its future upon the record it has made.

Wendell Phillips

SOME OF HIS RECENT POLITICAL OBSERVATIONS.

In a recent article in the Anti-Slavery Standard, Wendell Phillips has some observations on politics and politicians in which many keen and incisive thrusts are given by a hand that is accustomed to spare neither friends nor foes. The extravagance of Phillips' invective has often weakened its force, but when he says such a thing as the following about the Adams family, which we find in the article above alluded to, all persons who have read and digested the history of the family must admit that he has observed truly and spoken well:

> The worst obstacles we have are the Seymours and the Adamses. The first Adams cheated his party; was the assassin of the most intellectual statesman of the age, Alexander Hamilton. There has never been a generation of the family since, which has not repeated the treason. Choate dreamed once of the "last Adams." Heaven vouchsafed us no such luck. They are a type of the worst lot that attacks a Republic—a vain, greedy, decorous race, always in the market, and in making up which their maker—whoever he was—omitted every generous emotion and a moral sense.

This is a just estimate of the Adams family; the portrait of one of them would stand for the whole lot. They are worse than the Blairs, because they have more respectability and no less attachment to principle. Never was there an Adams who was not a betrayer, and if we are to judge the future by the past we may reasonably suppose that so long as the family is propagated, treachery will be its predominating quality.

Talking about the political condition of the South, Phillips says:

> We have never yet met, certainly not among Abolitionists, any man foolish enough to suppose that the effect of slavery could be rased out in one generation, or cured by the passage of any mere political arrangements. Out of slavery grew a social system. Around it was arranged a most complex political organization. Fashion, trade, religion, took shape from it. It will require a century, and the co-operating force of all the elements of civilization and Christianity to remodel these. There is more hope of the Wade Hamptons than of their Northern flunkies. Many a Southerner was blindly honest. He did not shut his eyes. He lived in darkness. All he needs is light, not honesty.

These are true words. The last men who will be cured of the false ideas which were inculcated by the rule of slavery and the wrong interpretation which the Democratic party gave to the powers of the Government, will be these "Northern flunkies." Phillips says, further:

> The vote in the late elections is the death warrant of the old Democratic party. That vote shows that the attempt to revive it has failed. The old Democratic party is annihilated. There is no need to inquire what caused the trouble, the platform or the candidates, since the two are Siamese twins. No other platform could have borne Seymour and Blair. Both Seymour and Blair could have consistently stood on no other platform. The old Democratic party, whose right hand was a slaveholder, and its left a doughface, which spoke only lies and sought only plunder, is dead. It has wielded immense power, the more shame to the nation that allowed it. Still it is something to take comfort in, though nothing to boast of. But the people have at last risen so far as to be perfectly disgusted with it and spew it out of their mouths."
> For Abolitionists the event has deep significance. Whenever the materials which composed that party come together again it must be to run a race with the Republican party for the favor of Radicalism. This old Democratic party died of a negro. Conqueror of Federalism, despot over the last sixty years, justice has at last killed it. Let no reformer henceforth despair. This great power represented all the base selfish and material interests of the land. It was intrenched with race hatred. Commerce was its ally, the Church was its tool. But ideas have eaten away its root. At the very moment when it seems strongest and most threatening it topples a hideous ruin to the ground. We wish we could attribute its fall to the moral sense of the nation. As the Church during this long struggle of forty years never lifted its hand once for emancipation, but left us to owe it at last to fear, so now the nation bows rather to necessity than to conscience.
> There is hardly a doubt that citizenship, equality and suffrage must be the substratum and admitted basis of all political combinations in this country. Over the grave of the last effort to stand on something else may be carved the names of Seymour and Blair. In the history of our race the grave of Charles Stuart marks the last effort of a King to rule us on feudal principle; that of his son James to dictate our religion; those of Burr and Davis to divide the national territory. And now the graves of Seymour and Blair mark the last effort to rule this nation without doing justice to the negro.

SURPRISED.—The Idaho Statesman is surprised that the Democrats of Idaho and Washington Territory were content to let Oregon give Seymour only 100 majority, when they might have made it 2,000 just as well. It does look a little singular. Probably only a few hundred of them followed the advice of the Walla Walla Statesman. That paper, it will be remembered, urged the Democrats of the Territories not to fail to come to Oregon to vote.

STATE ITEMS

There is a good deal of complaint that the post offices of Dallas and Dalles are often confounded with each other. The best remedy is for those who write letters to be careful about superscriptions and avoid illegible scrawls.

A few nights ago some burglars entered the shop of A. S. Crider in Dallas and stole nine and a half pairs of boots. On the following morning seven and a half pairs were found lying a short distance from the building. The thieves probably kept a pair apiece for wear.

Charles Williams, a young man about twenty-two years old, of Bath, Maine, was killed at Farshaker's saw mill, Coos Bay, on the [illegible] inst. He was putting a belt on a pulley when the stick he was using for the purpose caught in the belt or pulley and struck him a violent blow in the breast. He lived only about six hours.

The Polk county paper says: Charles S[illegible], who has lain in the Dallas jail for some months under commitment for breaking into Messrs. Van Luyn & Sommerville's store at Independence and assaulting the occupants with deadly weapons, was brought to trial during last week, convicted and sentenced by Judge Boise to five years hard labor in the Penitentiary.

The Polk County Signal says that if any wrong or unconstitutional measures were passed at the late session of the Legislature Governor Woods is responsible therefor, since he might have checked them with his veto. This plea has no parallel except in the argument lately made for the election of Seymour, viz: That the Republicans would have control in Congress and he would be powerless to carry out the revolutionary principles of his party.

WALLA WALLA

The weather has been quite cold in Walla Walla valley for several days. There is ice of considerable thickness and the whole face of nature wears a wintry garb.

The Walla Walla paper says that on Sunday morning last, during the absence of the family, the residence of the Rev. C. Eells was entered and a purse rifled of $125 in greenbacks. The thief also carried off a shot gun. Suspicion at once attached to a youth who had lately been in the employ of Mr. Eells, and on Sunday evening the suspected party was arrested. He was found at Mr. Chamberlain's church, and when he was taken into custody by Sheriff McAuliff he at once confessed to the theft.

The same paper states that Gov. Ballard, of Idaho, has bought quite a number of cows and work oxen, together with other kinds of stock and some heavy wagons, at low prices for cash. He has expended, in the aggregate, about $12,000 in legal tenders. The stock purchased by Gov. Ballard is for the Nez Perces Indians at the Lapwai Agency, and is the first instalment of money or property paid to the Nez Perces, in accordance with the treaty of 1864. In carrying out the engagements of the Government with the Indians Governor Ballard exhibits commendable zeal, and it would be fortunate for "Poor Lo," if other officials were actuated by the same spirit.

Brick Pomeroy against 'The World.'

The valiant Brick Pomeroy came into the field on Saturday morning as the direct competitor of the New York World. This is a contest in which we, of course, have no possible interest, but the evident desire on the part of the World to ignore the eminent and stalwart champion of the West appeals to our sense of fair play, and we do not choose that the enterprising and gifted editor of the Democrat should have a cold and heartless welcome at his entrance into the fraternity of the morning press. So far as building up the Democrat is concerned, Mr. Pomeroy has a good deal of work before him. So far as taking the place of the World is concerned, we do not think that he will find much difficulty. The World has always been one of those driftless, purposeless enterprises which represent the same position in journalism that "fancy stocks" do in Wall street. The worst kind of fancy stocks are those fancy stock newspapers, especially in the respect that they never attach to their management any direct, earnest, thorough going writers. The World has passed from the evangelical influences of its founders to the kitchen of the Manhattan Club. Started in a spirit of piety, the only spirit that now moves it is that which comes from Mr. Barlow's champagne. The earnest men who once sought to reform the nation through its columns, have given place to jaunty Broadway loungers, who never had any party, possess no principles, would just as soon write on one side as the other, whose editorials are merely so many exercises in rhetoric, and who care little for influence and power in circulation, so long as the larder of the Manhattan Club is filled with good dishes, and the wine cellar contains good champagne. This is the World in detail. As a newspaper it is merely one of Mr. Barlow's speculations, and we do not think he has any "fancy stock" on his list that has cost him more trouble and brought him less comfort.

From the spectacle of this blasé, worn out, insincere journal it is refreshing to turn to the columns of Mr. Pomeroy's newspaper, the Democrat. The World draws inspiration from the Manhattan Club, Mr. Pomeroy represents the lusty Democracy of Water street. He knows perfectly well that while few Democrats are found among the "gentlemen" of New York, every man in the city who is not a gentleman will vote for Seymour and Blair. He sees men gain wealth by patronizing these Democratic influences, by keeping dance houses, and rat pits, and sailors' boarding houses, opening tenement dwellings, exhibiting prize fights, and indulging in cock fighting.

Above all, he sees a Democrat like Mr. John Allen not only full of renown, but in possession of large sums of money. He sees in Fernando Wood a politician who deliberately made himself the representative of the vices of New York, and upon its support rising to great notoriety and power. The Democrat is the newspaper champion of this element. Brick is in his appropriate sphere because the men whom he seeks to represent are the men who constitute the real Democratic party.

And now for an open field and a fair fight. Water street against Fifth avenue. John Allen's dance house against the Manhattan Club, whisky against Heidsick, the Wickedest Editor in the country against the weakest one, courage against timidity; on one side a puny Greek of the lower Empire, and upon the other a lusty citizen of Rome. We prophesy that victory will descend upon the banners of Pomeroy, and with his triumph we shall have a Democratic party practicing what it preaches, and no more of the debilitating influences of the World, Tammany Hall and the Manhattan Club.—N. Y. Tribune, Oct. 20th.

The Bloated Bondholders

A friend of ours, who takes great interest in questions affecting the welfare of the working classes, has furnished us with some statistics of the present condition of the Williamsburg City Savings Bank, an institution which from its location deals chiefly with the humble and more poorly paid of all our citizens who live by their daily toil. The bank has now on deposit $5,909,60[illegible], which is divided up among 17,244 open accounts, an average of $342 to each account. Of these deposits $2,517,905 is invested in bonds of the United States, so that each depositor is indirectly a bondholder to the amount of forty cents in every dollar of his deposits, or, on an average, to the amount of $137.

Of these 17,244 depositors again, 3,721 are married women, 922 single women, and 1,082 widows—in all, 5,725 women, who on an average hold $137 each of government bonds.

Now when demagogues talk about "the bloated bondholders," we just want their hearers to think of this little army of 17,244 hard working people, of whom 5,725 are women, who have each $137 invested in the securities thus recklessly assailed. Mind, these are the figures taken from the books of one single institution and no more. The returns of all the savings banks in the State show that, of the $141,000,000 held by them $40,000,000 or nearly one third of the whole amount, is invested in United States bonds. The total number of depositors is 487,500, of whom 30[illegible],000 have their accounts in savings banks located in this city. If all these bloated bondholders with their $100 each, should vote, we fancy that the party of repudiation, partial or total, open or disguised, would not stand much chance of success, and as it is, we feel certain it is doomed to an ignominious overthrow.—N. Y. Sun.

JUST SO.—A Democratic paper of California says that "more than nine-tenths of the Democratic party believe to-day that the recent war was wrong in its inception, wrong in its prosecution, and wrong in its results." And a Democratic paper of Oregon says that "the party which would accept secession rather than a war to keep the country together can never control the destinies of this great country." Both are right. And this fully explains why the Democratic party is so signally overthrown.

Cultivating our soil one inch deeper would add $150,000,000 to the wealth of the country.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE

EDINBURGH, Nov. 21.—Lord Justice Inglis was to-day chosen Chancellor of the University of Edinburg over Hon. E. Gladstone.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—Some attempts have been made to organize anniversary obsequies in commemoration of the hanging of the Manchester Fenians in this city and Dublin, to-morrow. These proceedings will doubtless prove abortive through the action of Government officers.

At the Lancashire nomination for members of Parliament Mr. Gladstone was declared to have a majority on a show of hands.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The Herald's London special says that yesterday Mr. Burlingame and associate Ministers of the Chinese Embassy, were presented to the Queen at Windsor Castle by Lord Stanley. Burlingame briefly addressed Her Majesty in the name of the Emperor of China, and continued by expressing a desire that the health and happiness of the Queen and the people over whom she presided, would be long and lasting. He also referred, in appropriate terms, to Sir Frederick Bruce, and spoke in the highest terms of the valuable co-operation rendered him by English representatives. In the course of his address he made a graceful allusion to the well known friendship of Her Majesty for the United States. Mr. Burlingame then presented his letters of credence from the Emperor of China. It is rather an extensive document, beautifully encased in yellow satin. Her Majesty was evidently pleased and received the document. In addressing Burlingame she said she was glad to welcome the first Chinese Embassy to Great Britain. She was pleased to greet Mr. Burlingame and the mission, expressing a belief that its object was a step in the right direction.

Mr. Burlingame then introduced his associate ministers and secretaries to the Queen. The interview was marked by the utmost cordiality. A magnificent lunch was served while the company were seated. Lord Stanley took occasion to express himself as in perfect accordance with Burlingame's sentiments relative to China. It was true, he said, a certain degree of opposition originating in ignorance of the great object of the Chinese mission, coupled with a desire to adhere to the old traditional coercive policy, met Mr. Burlingame on his arrival in England, but this had all passed away. Burlingame, by a dignified course and feeling the grandeur and importance of the great trust confided to him, had conducted himself in such a manner as to disarm opposition and create not only a favorable impression for China, but for the United States. Acting as the representative of the Emperor of China his dignified bearing and progressive ideas exhibit him as a true type of the representative American. Lord Stanley concluded by expressing his belief in cordial principles, which are fast influencing the nations of the world, and have changed foes to friends.

Old Mr and Mrs Blair

A friend describes to us the appearance of old Mr and Mrs Blair as they ride into Washington city. He is now 78 years old and his wife is 76. They live six miles from Washington and at a country seat in Maryland known as Silver Springs. Nearly every day they ride into Washington on horseback and when they do not come to Washington, they ride as far in the opposite direction. Mr Blair wears a broad brimmed, slouched hat, and looks like the relic of a century ago. He is very thin, his legs are hardly larger than a common man's wrist, and by the time he gets into the city his trowsers have slipped half way up to his knees. Mrs Blair, who is a robust, stout, fine looking old lady, wears a broad Quaker sunbonnet, made of pasteboard slips, so that she can gather it all up together in her hand, and a white dimity short dress.

Mr Blair always rides about a length and a half of the horse ahead of her. He rides up to the steps in front of Montgomery Blair's house, throws the reins down on the horse's neck, dismounts and proceeds directly up the steps. The horse droops his head and stands still. Directly Mrs Blair rides up, switches her husband's horse out of the way, gets off her horse and follows her husband into the house.

One end of this house is occupied by Montgomery Blair, Mr Blair's eldest son, a graduate of West Point, once a Judge in Missouri, an officeholder under Buchanan, Postmaster General under Lincoln, a friendly man, a first rate hater, and a very violent politician and stump speaker, and the other end is occupied by Rear Admiral Lee, who married the only daughter of old Mr Blair and made $90,000 prize money before he stopped the rebels from running the blockade of Wilmington during the late war.

The mansion where Montgomery Blair lives and where Mr and Mrs Blair alight as they ride into Washington is the one in which Senator Benton formerly lived. It is situated across the street in front of the White House, and nearly opposite the War Department.

Old Mr Blair was originally engaged in banking in Kentucky. He was brought to Washington by Gen Jackson, between whom and himself a life-long friendship existed. The old Globe, edited by him, and published by Blair & Rives, was the great organ of the Democratic party in the days of Jackson, and was a power in the land.

The Blairs and Fremonts were strong friends until the separation which took place between them at St Louis during the war, and which proved injurious to both parties.

Probably there is no other man living who had so many important interviews with Presidents in the White House as Francis P. Blair, Senior. It was he who looked out at the request of General Jackson, a suitable place in which to interline in one of Old Hickory's messages the memorable words, "I take the responsibility."

Old Mr Blair is certainly a remarkable man, and has lived a remarkable career as a politician. He has been as a friend faithful, bold and powerful, and as an enemy malignant, chivalric and formidable. It is among the least of Mr Blair's merits that he is the father of Francis P. Blair, Jr., the Democratic candidate for Vice President.

A LAKE ONTARIO MYSTERY.—One of the strangest phenomena ever witnessed has recently occurred along the shores of Lake Ontario, in the towns of Sodus and Williamson. For three weeks previous to last Friday the water of the lake has been unusually warm—so warm indeed that many persons resorted thither for the purpose of bathing, remaining in the water an hour or more at a time without experiencing sensations of chilliness. On Friday, however, a sudden change occurred, the temperature of the water falling nearly 20 degrees within three hours. And now comes the strangest part of the story. The fish, great and small, as the cold increased, seemed possessed with a desire to get ashore, and came leaping and tumbling against the banks in hundreds and thousands. Large quantities were taken with spears and nets, and the shores of the lake were lined with dead fish. Whether the fish were frightened at the increasing coldness and in their fright sought the shore where the water was of less depth for the purpose of safety, we will not pretend to explain. The water of Lake Ontario is now [illegible] several degrees [illegible] than it has been for several years at this season, and naturally excites [illegible] comment and discussion.—Lyons (N. Y.) [illegible]

The Darien Canal

On this subject we find the following in a late Eastern journal:

This most important inter-oceanic undertaking, after so many years of talk, seems likely to have a beginning. Our Government, it is understood, are prepared to undertake a final survey of the Isthmus with reference to a determination of the best route for the canal, and to negotiate with the Republic of Columbia for its consent to the undertaking, and its concurrence in the proposed arrangements connected with the enterprise. This they do with the pledge that the canal company will be ready to furnish $100,000,000 as the money is required in order to complete the work on the canal.

There have already been several surveys of this Isthmus with reference to inter-oceanic communication. The idea of a canal across the Isthmus—which varies in width from a little more than 100 miles to something less than 30 miles—was broached as early as the days of Philip II of Spain, and a partial survey was made by his authority about the year 1528. But insuperable difficulties were met with and the idea was abandoned. In 18[illegible] the plan was revived by a New Grenadian engineer and a route surveyed. Another and more formal survey was made by authority of Bolivar in 1827-29. In 1843 the French surveyed for a canal, and obtained a favorable report, and from that time to the building of the Panama Railroad, 1850-55, the subject continued to be agitated, but without any practical results. Now, however, it is to be hoped that the set time has come to begin this much mooted and most important international undertaking.

The present proposed plan is—to build a canal large enough to allow any ship in the world, except the Great Eastern, to pass from ocean to ocean without unloading, and to have it free to all nations, and neutral in all wars. Vessels are to pass and repass by paying a stipulated sum per ton and per passenger; the ports at either end to be free except for goods intended for consumption in the Republic of Colombia. The charge on ships in ballast is not to exceed 75 cents a ton, $2 a ton loaded with merchandise, and on passengers $10 a head may be charged. The company is to have a grant from the Government of exclusive right of way for 99 years, and is to pay the Colombian Government 6 per cent of the clearing profits for 25 years, and 8 per cent for 74 years, for this privilege.

CHARITY.—A large class of people professing to be virtuous, on many occasions forget that to be charitable to a fellow being is the least virtue a person can possess. It is not always by giving money to the poor or assisting the afflicted that a person can only show their charity. A good advice is often better than money. For instance: Meeting a person who wishes to purchase a common or fine suit of clothes or any other article in the Clothing or Dry Goods line, is it not a charitable act toward that person to recommend them to go to Kohn & Fishel, not being certain that at that House they can purchase at the lowest rates and receive good goods, and where the most particular can be satisfied?

Marriage and Longevity

The old question of the comparative longevity of married and unmarried persons has been [illegible] by the public [illegible] collected by the English Commission [illegible] the Marriage Laws [illegible] statistics [illegible] appears that out of 100 000 married persons in England [illegible] twenty [illegible] while [illegible] number of unmarried persons [illegible] attaining the age of [illegible] It is said that these figures [illegible] careful inquiry [illegible] testified [illegible] generally [illegible]

[illegible] truly interesting [illegible] to all [illegible] who will not be bred [illegible] the [illegible] but after all the [illegible] What [illegible] undoubtedly true that there are [illegible] attain [illegible] their [illegible] that [illegible] bachelors [illegible] remember [illegible] full under what [illegible] strange [illegible] as [illegible] Mr [illegible] persons [illegible] who would [illegible] hardly any [illegible] insurance company [illegible]

[illegible] general [illegible] a principle of natural selection [illegible] the strong and robust are more likely to get married than the weak and sickly. There are many reasons why this should be the case but it is only necessary to allude to the most obvious one that in the [illegible] and middle classes persons of sound health are certain to distance their weaker brethren in the great but [illegible] winning struggle that forms one of the more essential conditions of matrimony

In this view the proposition that marriage is more conducive to longevity is equivalent to the conclusion that persons whose lives are insured are more likely to live longer than those whose lives are not insured. The insurance companies pick their lives pretty much as is the case in matrimony. But it would be absurd to assume that to insure longevity all that is necessary is to rush to the nearest insurance agent. Still after making out the strongest case possible for the bachelors the most that can be done for them is to class them in the ranks of non insurable lives

THERE is no mistake about it PLANTATION BITTERS will ward off Fever and Ague and all kindred diseases if used in time. No family need suffer from this distressing complaint if they will keep PLANTATION BITTERS in the house and use it according to directions. The most important ingredient of this medicine is Calisaya or Peruvian Bark which is known to be the finest and great tonic in the vegetable kingdom. The extract of this bark is the active principle of all the good Fever and Ague Medicines prescribed by intelligent doctors. Calisaya Bark is used extensively in the manufacture of PLANTATION BITTERS and we dare say owe their popularity mostly to that fact. We can recommend them

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, That Section 19 of the Act in the first section of this act mentioned be, and the same is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 19. Neither the Commissioners nor the Secretary shall have any interest, directly or indirectly in any pilot or tug boat or the earnings thereof, other than for compensation as herein provided.

Sec. 4. And be it further enacted that section 2, of the act [illegible] 1864, be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows: Sec. 2. That H. Leonard, John Stephenson and William Weatherford be and they are hereby appointed commissioners who, after taking and subscribing an oath to faithfully discharge the duties herein of them required, shall on behalf of the State, invite proposals from and contract with responsible citizens of the United States or corporation organized under the laws of this State for placing upon the pilot grounds between Astoria and the open sea outside the bar a powerful steam tug boat at least of sufficient size, strength and motive power for the purpose of towing and piloting vessels across said bar and wherever when it can be crossed by the best class of steamers and sailing vessels, together with an abundant supply of boats and every appliance which the said contracting commissioners shall think necessary, with the hull and machinery closely inspected and approved under the laws of the United States and a master and sufficient number of pilots in her employ well qualified to act as such bar pilots, the said master and pilots to take and receive a license from the commissioners authorized to grant the same. Provided, that the said commissioners may, if they shall deem it expedient, give the preference to the present bar pilots, or either of them, at as low price as any other person will contract, always taking into consideration the dimensions, strength and motive power, boats and appliances of the steam tug proposed. That upon notice to such contracting commissioners, that the steam tug boat shall have been contracted for as hereinafter provided, and upon the pilot ground as aforesaid they, or a majority of two thirds of them, shall examine on board of such vessel, and if satisfied that said tug boat and appliances are in all respects such as are contemplated by the contract, entered into as before provided and under oath to certify, the Pilot Commissioners shall then license the master and other pilots in the employ of such tug boat and shall revoke all other licenses for the pilot grounds aforesaid and shall not license any other bar pilots, than such as shall be in the employ of such tug boat. So long as such tug boat shall truly and faithfully perform pilotage and towage upon the said pilot grounds for the term of five years, and as much longer as the said tug boat shall be able to answer the demands of the public service, not exceeding the term of ten years that as a consideration for the performance of such contract as herein provided for, the said Contracting Commissioners are authorized, on behalf of the State of Oregon to agree to pay to the contracting party not exceeding the sum of twelve thousand ($12 000) dollars for the first year six thousand ($6 000) dollars for the second year five thousand ($5 000) dollars for the third year fourth thousand ($4 000) dollars for the fourth year and three thousand ($3 000) dollars for the fifth year such tug boat shall have performed such service as is herein contemplated, payable quarterly in United States gold coin out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated. The amount for such service to be audited and drawn for on the Treasury by the Secretary of State upon the certificate of the Pilot Commissioners under oath, that such service has been performed: provided that if such contract shall be for any less sum in the aggregate than in this section before proposed, such reduction shall be rateably on the said several sums.

Sec. 5. And be it further enacted That Section 1 of an Act approved the 21st day of October, 1864, in relation to pilots on the Columbia and Willamette rivers, be, and the same is hereby amended to read as follows: Section 1. That the fees for piloting a steamer from the open sea beyond the bar to Astoria, shall be eight dollars per foot draft for the first twelve feet and ten dollars per foot draft for any excess above twelve feet; and for piloting a steamer from Astoria to the open sea beyond the bar, eight dollars per foot draft for the first twelve feet, and ten dollars per foot draft for any excess above twelve feet. If a pilot shall board a steamer bound in, while she is either on or within the bar, and not above Sand Island, he shall be entitled to half fees or such from thence to Astoria, and if at the time of boarding her she shall be above Sand Island he shall be entitled to quarter fees only. The fees for piloting and towing a sail vessel from the open sea beyond the bar to Astoria, shall be eight dollars per foot draft for the first twelve feet, and ten dollars per foot for any excess above twelve, and from [illegible] beyond the bar, eight dollars per foot draft for the first twelve feet, and ten dollars per foot draft for any excess above twelve feet. If a pilot shall board or take in tow a sail vessel on or within the bar and not above Sand Island he shall be entitled to half fees thence to Astoria, and if at the time of boarding such vessel she shall be above Sand Island, he shall be entitled to quarter fees only, that the steam tug boat hereinbefore provided for, after being accepted by the Commissioners as aforesaid, and entering upon the discharge of her duties, shall at all times carry a sufficient supply of provisions and water as may be necessary for the relief of vessels in distress, and it shall be the duty of the master and pilots at all times to offer such aid to vessels in distress.

Sec. 6. And be it further enacted, that the [illegible] such owner or company shall become [illegible] such license the owner or owners of such tug boat shall enter into [illegible] the State of Oregon with security to the approval of the contracting [illegible] the penalty [illegible] pilot grounds for the term of five years, which bond shall be filed with the Secretary of State.

Sec. 7. And be it further enacted That [illegible] the pilot [illegible] that exorbitant or oppressive charges shall be likely to be made [illegible] for towage between the bar [illegible] grounds and Portland; if there be no particular necessity for the steam tug to remain for the time [illegible] grant a special permit for such tug to proceed to Portland [illegible] with such sail vessel [illegible] have established provided, that the owner [illegible] further that [illegible]

PROSPECTUS

OF THE

Weekly Oregonian.

FOR 1868.

Eighteenth Volume!

Only $3.00 a Year.

By common consent the OREGONIAN ranks first among the papers published in the Northwest. It is the oldest paper in the State and its circulation and influence are greater than that of any other two papers combined. As a journal of enterprise in gathering the latest intelligence, and in giving in each issue a larger amount and greater variety of reading matter it has no competitor. It is thoroughly identified with this city and State and neighboring Territories, where the number of its readers and its influence are constantly increasing.

An unflinching advocate of sound Union principles it at the same time pays special attention not only to MATTERS OF GENERAL INTEREST but to every thing of moment to the great

Agricultural, Manufacturing,

AND MINING INTERESTS,

And to the development of the resources and settlement of the Northwest.

Its columns contain a carefully prepared digest of

NEWS FROM ALL PARTS

OF

Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana.

TELEGRAMS FROM

are published as full as in the California journals, and put before our readers from ONE TO THREE DAYS BEFORE ANY OTHER PAPER IN THE STATE.

Among its corps of writers are regular correspondents at New York and Washington City, men who having lived in this State, are able to write on Eastern affairs, both politically and commercially from an Oregon standpoint.

Its Literary and General Selections are from the best sources.

EXTENDED AND RELIABLE

are furnished every week giving the Financial, Dry Goods, Hardware and General Market Reports of Portland, and the latest reports by Telegraph of the San Francisco and New York markets. These reports are acknowledged to be the most accurate published in the State.

In every department it will be, as it has been, the foremost in the State in the field of journalism. Being firmly established it will go forward with confidence, making new plans for improvement and usefulness, and hopes to gain increased circulation and support.

The most important National Election ever held in the United States is now approaching. The dissemination of reliable political information among the people is a matter of the highest consequence. The Republic must not go back to the so-called Democratic interpretation of the powers of the Government to the great cause which precipitated the late conflict on the country. The principles which were upheld on the battle field must be sustained at the ballot box, and the OREGONIAN will labor with all its ability to secure that end.

TERMS:

One Year	$3 00.
Six Months	2 00.
Three Months	1 00.

The WEEKLY OREGONIAN has been a favorite paper for mailing to friends in the East. It will be mailed from the office at subscription rates.

Subscribers will find on each paper with their names the date on which their subscriptions expire, as entered in our books. In renewing, the name of subscriber and post office should be distinctly written.

All papers are discontinued at the end of the time for which they have been paid, the date of which is always printed with the name each week.

☞ REMIT BY MAIL AT OUR RISK, in presence of Postmaster, or pay to the nearest authorized agent.

We ask our friends to aid us in extending the circulation of the OREGONIAN in every direction.

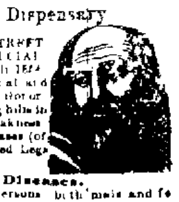
NEW REMEDIES. NEW REMEDIES.

Dr Gibbon's Dispensary



616 KEARNY STREET NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854 for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female are there who are suffering under a [illegible] absorbed into the system [illegible] emaciated and disfigured [illegible] constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life [illegible] thousands suffer until death [illegible] Let parents, guardians, friends attend. For who are suffering with any of these horrible destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Dr. Gibbon, a physician who has made private diseases a special study for years and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases [illegible] imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians of Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emission is the consequence of self abuse. This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combated by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequently insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN.

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them, nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible and will give to each patient a written instrument binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and directions for use. For Ten Dollars sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who with bogus sworn certificates dupe the unwary. Some of the self styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are strangers, and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory and you will not find their Medical Institutes; but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid impositions is to make enquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets. For as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, protected patient's letters etc. Dr Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 616 Kearny street, corner Commercial, San Francisco. Post Office Box 262.
REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 262 ON THE LETTER.
Consultations FREE.
☞ Correspondents will please inform DR GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian.
